

Why should I be a trade member?

The Fly Dressers' Guild has a long history of excellence and is recognised as a point of reference for all things fly tying.

Our good reputation was such that trade members used to pay for the privilege and then be required to offer discount to our members.

Clearly in the modern commercial world this model is not sustainable and therefore we have changed the way we run trade membership

If you as a company can offer any of the following

Discounts on good or services for our members,

Goods or services that can be offered as prizes in our internal fly tying and fly fishing competitions,

Prizes for our bi annual raffle

Products for review in flydresser magazine

Articles with a fly tying theme that promote your products for publication in fly dresser

We will give you

A full membership to The Fly Dressers' Guild entitling you to receive the Flydresser magazine 4 times per year

A trade member's badge

Reduced cost or free advertising in Flydresser magazine.

Reviews of your products in flydresser magazine

A listing in the member's benefits section of the website with direct links to your online store

A listing in Flydresser magazine every year

The FDG trade member's logo to use on your own website and social media platforms

If you are interested in becoming a trade member please contact Chris Reeves, General Secretary via email secretary@flydressersguild.org to discuss the matter further.
